

Become a SLO Review “Performing Arts Partner”

How your organization benefits:

- Your logo, mission statement, and website link will be posted on the SLO Review home page as a Performing Arts Partner
- SLO Review will post review(s) of your production(s)
- SLO Review contributors will research and write at least one advance piece about your production

Example of post on our home page:

What you need to do:

- Make two tickets available for one of our reviewers to attend each production (opening night preferred but the earlier in the run, the better)
- Let us know if you offer any deals/ discounts for audience members
- Provide a space in your production's program to promote SLO Review (sample ad below; we'll adapt to the space size you provide).
- Send your logo, link, mission statement, production dates, deals or discounts available, and ad space size to charlotte.alexander@sloreview.org
